Bridget Hogan is Vice President of Federal Government Relations at JPMorgan Chase & Co., where she plays a key role in leading the company’s engagement with Capitol Hill and the Administration. Bridget specializes in capital markets issues that impact the Corporate & Investment Bank (CIB) and Asset & Wealth Management (AWM) divisions, leveraging her deep expertise to advance the firm’s policy objectives.

With over a decade of experience in Washington, D.C., Bridget has built a distinguished career in both the public and private sectors. Prior to joining JPMorgan Chase, she served on Capitol Hill for various members of the House and Senate, where she managed financial services and banking policy portfolios. Bridget also brings valuable private sector perspective from her previous role in Federal Government Relations at Allstate Insurance Company.

A Chicago native, Bridget holds a B.A. from Indiana University. She currently resides in Washington, D.C. with her husband, daughter, and dog. bridget.hogan@jpmchase.com
